What are we grateful for?

ATTITUDE of GRATITUDE

By Cindy Foor, Head of People & Culture

Late in 2021, we launched a simple challenge to all YorkPMH team members: In the 15 workdays leading up to our Christmas break, take 30 opportunities to be grateful (two per day). We wanted to share with you some responses. As you scan through them, we invite you to share a few moments of gratitude too – we'd love to hear them! We found it to be a great way to wrap up 2021 and kick off 2022. All of us at York Precision Machining & Hydraulics hope you and yours had a safe and happy holiday season. We look forward to connecting in 2022!

EMPLOYEE ACTIVITIES

We Value the People in our Workplace!

Q4 2021 featured a packed schedule of fun events that involved our employees creatively showing off their cooking/baking skills, to showing their gratitude for life/work and displaying their decorating skills.

Pumpkin Decorating: in October, we had a pumpkin decorating contest. Employees were challenged to decorate a pumpkin with the help of their family. We had a variety of pumpkins and a close contest! During his break Robbie Menas carved up a puking pumpkin to pull out the win!

Soup and Pie Contest: In November, employees put their cooking and baking skills to the test. The YPMH employees participated in a soup and pie making contest. The cafeteria smelled delightful, and the food absolutely did not disappoint! With a variety of soups and another close contest, Brian (Buzz) Wolf holds the winning trophy for the soup cook-off of 2021. With just 4 votes separating 1st and 2nd place in the pie contest, Robbie Menas took home the trophy for the pie baking champion of 2021!

Attitude of Gratitude: In Late November, YPMH started a daily dose of gratitude. Employees were prompted with a question about a work-related and non-work-related items they are grateful for. Wow, what an awesome group of people we have at YPMH, it's so cool to see these expressions of gratitude! (see cover story).

Toolbox and Door Decorating contest: To prepare for the holidays, YPMH challenged employees to pick a partner and decorate their toolbox and office door. We had a variety of decorations from Christmas lights to sports flags to candy filled doors and so much more! Even our visitors got to experience the fun of the decorating contest: "Wow, those lights are awesome!", stated a visitor as they stood beaming at the decoration on the CMM room hung by Jacob Greco and Robbie Menas.

Ugly Sweater/Outfit Contest: There's nothing better than some er, "eye-catching" sweaters/outfits to provide some good laughs! With a sweater that probably weighted about 5 lbs and was handmade by his wife, Jeff Shellenberger took the popular vote for the contest.

Holiday luncheon and "Oriole" Swap: Wrapping up all the fun events not just this quarter, but the events all year, YPMH had a holiday luncheon followed by a Yankee Swap (which some folks here renamed the Orioles Swap). The food was delicious, and the Yankee swap was fun and quite entertaining. What is a Yankee Swap, you might ask? The front of the room was filled with wrapped gifts for YPMH employees. Employees picked numbers to determine when it was their turn. Each employee had the opportunity to open a gift or steal a gift that had already been opened. If an employee had their gift stolen, then they could again choose to open a gift or steal a gift from a different employee. Let's just say there was plenty of stealing happening and a lot of laughter as well! YPMH employees had a blast!
